Everyone at Westerleigh Group

Your Options Explained

There are almost no limits to how you can remember your loved one. Memorialisation is a meaningful way of creating something that will withstand the test of time and a place you can visit and return to on different occasions.

This brochure and useful symbols associated with each memorial item, will help guide you through a variety of options, whether you are looking for a memorial at one of the Westerleigh Group crematoria or in a private location.

Memorial items featured in this booklet may vary in style between crematoria, based on the site's landscape and local product availability. Please enquire with your desired Westerleigh Group crematorium to find out more. For contact details, please turn to pages 50 - 51.

Our team of experts will be able to guide you through your memorial journey and help you create a uniquely personal memorial for your loved one.

Interment

An interment of ashes provides an opportunity to create a specific final resting place for a loved one where the ashes will be placed below ground and the plot will be marked by a memorial of your choosing.

Interment can be attended by family members or performed without their presence. Our colleagues are always available to provide support and assistance whilst ensuring utmost care, respect and dignity, regardless of the chosen option.

There is a small number of crematoria where we are unable to inter ashes. Our colleagues will guide you through alternative options should this be the case at your selected crematorium.

Above ground

Above ground memorials will safely hold your loved one's ashes inside them without needing to inter them below ground.

Because of their above ground position, they offer more visual presence in a given space.

Placing of the ashes inside an above ground memorial can be performed in the presence of the bereaved family members or without. Our colleagues will be on hand to assist with either option and carry out all duties with the highest level of care, respect and dignity.

Above ground memorials are available at all Westerleigh Group crematoria.

Scattering

All of our crematoria have dedicated communal and private scattering areas available.

Even if a service or cremation of a loved one did not take place at one of our crematoria, we can still assist with the scattering of their ashes on our grounds.

The scattering can be performed in the presence of family members or without their attendance. Our colleagues will be able to assist regardless of the selected option and carry out this duty with utmost respect, care and dignity.

Ash scattering in a communal area is performed free of charge to families whose loved one's service took place at a Westerleigh Group crematorium.

Living Memorials Collection

Living memorials are a beautiful, environmentally-friendly memorial option with a distinct focus on life and its meaning. Visual changes which living memorials undergo during different seasons create different looks throughout the year, making a connection with the life cycle itself and that of a loved one.

Nature enthusiasts will find comfort in knowing that living memorials also help create natural habitats for wildlife so commonly found on our grounds.

Living memorials come in a variety of sizes to suit different needs. Based on their size, they can hold between 2 and 6 sets of ashes, creating a personal family plot for now and in the future.

Trees

A variety of trees have been planted in our gardens to provide natural, living memorials. Tree plots are available in 50" circles. We are able to place small granite memorials inside tree plots for anyone who is looking to combine contemporary and traditional cremation memorial options.

Family Gardens

Family Gardens are dedicated to individual families and are planted separately. All family garden plots are available in 38", 50" and 60" circles. Small granite memorials can be placed inside the plot, providing a distinct, private area for you to visit and tend.

Individual Rose Beds

Our rose trees and bushes provide a beautiful and traditional form of remembrance. They are arranged in individual beds and can be marked with a dedication plaque or garden memorial. Rose positions are available in 30" circles.

Contemporary Memorials Collection

Contemporary memorials offer an inspiring variety of options, ranging from more traditional granite mini graves to emerging favourites such as bird baths and benches.

Contemporary memorials provide many opportunities for personalisation such as an etched portrait of your loved one, their favourite sports team or their hobby.

Benches

The rustic look and feel of wooden benches helps complement any natural setting. They can hold token amount of ashes and be inscripted with a bronze plaque. Alternatively, messages can be carved directly onto the wood.

Granite benches provide a long lasting, low maintenance alternative to a traditional wooden bench. They are available in a range of colours and can be engraved with a dedication or emblem and even enhanced with a photo plaque.

Communal Memorials

Communal Shrub Beds

Communal shrub beds provide a low maintenance option within a shared space of shrubs and bushes whilst offering a traditional form of remembrance. A small granite memorial can be placed within these areas to commemorate your loved one.

Communal Rose Beds

Communal rose beds provide a low maintenance option whilst offering a traditional form of remembrance. Depending on the crematorium, a small granite memorial or bronze plaque can be placed within these areas to commemorate your loved one.

Mulberry Tree

The Mulberry Tree is made in the UK from corten steel with either UK sourced glass leaves or granite leaves (depending on crematoria location). Corten steel is designed to naturally rust, giving the tree trunk and branches a natural rugged appearance, which will continue to develop over several years. The glass or granite leaves bring the tree to life with their colour and shape.

Each tree comes complete with 240 blank heart shaped leaves. Each leaf has space to allow for the loved one's name, their dates and a simple design. The inscribed leaf will simply take the place of the original blank leaf.

The tree is located near an ash scattering area to ensure that the loved one's ashes always remain close to their commemorative leaf.

Barbican

A stylish selection of multi-plaque memorials, to memorialise the loved one when the ashes have been scattered. Distinct by design and with contrasting base product and plaque granite colours, the Barbican offers space for a more detailed inscription and more elaborate artwork

Memorial Plaques

Natural long lasting granite plaques are engraved with a personal dedication before placing on a communal memorial set within our Garden of Remembrance. This is a popular option if you require a low maintenance memorial.

Book of Remembrance

Uniquely Personal

A Book of Remembrance, provides a permanent record of a loved one and a place to visit, reflect and remember.

As well as their name and dates, their memorial entry can include a personal tribute, short poem or other message, and an illustration that captures the essence of their life and character.

Each memorial entry will be individually hand-lettered by one of the highly skilled calligraphers and illustrated by a professional artist at the Surrey Studios of F.G. Marshall Ltd.

From flowers and birds to regimental crests and coat-of-arms, these exquisitely detailed images provide a unique and personal tribute to a loved one's life and interests.

The book itself is entirely handmade using a combination of 14th century techniques and 21st century materials. The result is a rich, dignified and beautiful memorial that will last for many hundreds of years.

Additionally, there are supplementary items such as memorial cards and miniature books which are personal keepsakes that you can look at whenever you wish.

They contain a precise copy of the loved one's memorial entry, including the illustration, hand-lettered and illustrated by the same artists that created the original entry in the Book of Remembrance. With the space for additional entries in the miniature books, they can be turned into a unique family record that can be passed down through the generations.

Please check with the crematorium the range and availability of the Book of Remembrance at your selected location.

Whether you are looking to create a formal memorial, have decided to hold on to your loved one's ashes or are making plans for their scattering in a private location, we offer a range of products suitable for different purposes.
